For many ert E. Strawbridge, swam it in 86 minites. With her was Mrs. Dan W. Jones. ormerly Miss Barbara Norman, and Miss Evelyn Loew, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Goadby Loew. The three finished only a minute apart, with Miss strawbridge leading and Mrs. Jones next. A swimming master accompanied the swimmers in his life dory. It was the first time this season that the swim has been attempted by the girls of the will colony. The weather conditions favored the athletes, for there was not only a fair wind but also a fair tide. The first concert was given there on August 5, and now preparations have been made for the second, on Thursday morning, September 2, which will be a joint recital by Miss Locaine Wyman, soprano, and Mr. How-ard Brockway, composer planist. he programme will consist chiefly of folk songs from the Kentucky mountains, nown in their collected form as "Loneome Tunes," a title which suggests the arming books of that region by the ate John Pox, Jr. Miss Wyman and Mr. Brockway made an artistic pilgrimage to the mountain districts and brought back wealth of material. The natives sang for them, in their simple and untaugh tyle, the old English melodies which were handed down from Elizabethan mes, and Mr. Brockway wrote out the mes while Miss Wyman collected the words of the songs. The accompaniments have all been made by Mr. Brockway. and he has in them the combination of which is the great charm of the work of many of the composers of to-day, Maurice lavel in particular.

Mr. Brockway also will play a group of three Armenian folk tunes arranged by himself which are unique in musical
